ELECTION BOARD IS CHECKING THE RETURNS

SENATE LEADERS OF BOTH PARTIES AVER CONGRESS TO BACK PRESIDENT HARDING

Anticipate Congress Will Be Asked To Authorize Seizure

REPUBLICAN LEADERS INTERVIEW PRESIDENT

Tariff Measure May Be Side-tracked To Make Way For Legislation

(By International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Congress will back up President Harding if it becomes necessary for him to take over the railroads to prevent the transportation of coal, food and other necessities of life from breaking down completely.

This was the judgment today of senate leaders of both parties, who, entertaining faint hope of early settlement of the railroad strike, were already anticipating that congress soon would be called upon to authorize President Harding to seize the railroads as a peace emergency measure, just as President Wilson was empowered to assume control of them as a war emergency move.

Some senators hold the opinion that the country is rushing fast into a crisis far more grave than has yet developed and that when the house reassembles Tuesday, government operation of the railroads, if not of the coal mines, would confront congress and the administration as the only way to save the country from acute distress.

Republican leaders, fresh from conferences with the President, made no effort to disguise the pessimism with which they regarded the outlook. Reluctant to talk publicly, they admitted, however, that they were not expecting the President's latest proposal for settlement of the railroad strike to meet with success and were prepared for him to appear before congress next week and to ask for immediate legislative authority to keep trains moving.

Some senators declared the railroads should be given a further opportunity to demonstrate whether they were able to run themselves before the government interfered, but even they conceded that it was not likely that any member of congress would attempt to stand in the way of government operation, once it was shown that only by the President taking the railroads over could they be kept running.

The hope was entertained that debate would be limited on the anticipated proposal to authorize the President to take over the railroads. Some administration leaders said they thought if the situation becomes so critical as to require immediate action, that the senate would act concurrently with the house in providing such authorization, even if it were necessary to displace the pending tariff bill temporarily in order to have both chambers act without delay.

Court Officials Ready For Term

All departments of the court officials are ready for the term of the circuit court which meets next Monday, August 14, for a two weeks term. The grand jury will be assembled the first week, and the work of the court will be confined to the civil docket. The second week will be taken up with hearing the criminal docket. Four prisoners are in the county jail charged with capital offenses. Three negroes charged with implication in the murder of a white man by the name of Henderson, in the eastern end of the county a few weeks ago, are out on bond. The fact that the regular June term of the court was postponed until this time, has caused the docket to be very crowded and the two weeks will be very busy weeks. Judge O. Kyle will preside.

Wilson and Roper Make the Principal Addresses at Meeting of Craftsmen

The following official statement was issued today by H. C. Hutchison chairman of the press committee of the federated shop crafts:

W. H. Wilson Chairman of the Boiler Makers' Union, and S. E. Roper, system chairman of the Craftsmen of the L. & N. were the principal speakers at the Rail strikers' meeting at the Masonic theater this morning. Robert Woods, I. D. Sharp, carmen, Rev. T. B. Harwell, and numbers of others made short addresses. I. D. Sharp exposed what he termed "a plan to intimidate you strikers." He said men that he knew personally, were a part of the plan.

Robert Woods, carmen foreman, spoke along the same lines, and received one of the most enthusiastic ovations of the morning.

Rev. T. B. Harwell, who had been away holding revival meetings for two weeks, spoke of his experiences out in the country.

S. E. Roper spoke at length of his recent visit to Judge W. I. Grubb, and he reported Judge Grubb as saying that picketers did have legal right to talk to men going in or about the local shops. This statement was greeted with a thunder of applause.

Martial Law Declined, Situation Here "Very Good", State's Observers Find

Martial law will not be proclaimed here, according to a decision reached by Colonel Glenn, representative of Governor Kilby, and United States Marshal Kennemer, of Birmingham, following a personal visit of inspection to the Twin Cities. This announcement was made today by Captain R. A. Burleson, in command of the troops in the strike area here.

Captain Burleson said the visitors found the situation here "very good." Captain Burleson also took occasion to express his appreciation of the "co-operation" of the leaders of the strike here since the state guardsmen were placed in the local field.

"The co-operation of the strike leaders has been very gratifying," Captain Burleson declared. "Colonel Glenn commented on this while here. He said the situation seemed to be in fine shape."

Fitzhugh Lee and Frank Morgan apparently are nominated for the associate members of the public service commission, with John C. Anderson for chief justice of the supreme court.

"We have added to our ranks as strikers in the last 24 hours close to 20,000 additional strikers," said Mr. Roper. "As we grow in numbers the railroad managers are fighting among themselves," continued Roper. He declared he based the last statement on the authority of David Lawrence the well known writer. "We are working together like brothers," declared Mr. Roper amid applause.

W. H. Wilson, spoke at length on his three days trip to Etawah, Paris, Nashville and other shop points in Tennessee.

The usual reports were made.

"The meeting was opened with a quartette by the Ryan Brothers, Grant and Akers. The opening prayer was by J. H. Cliff, blacksmith and the Chaplain L. E. Toon of the machinists closed the meeting with prayer.

Miners Vote For Proceeding With Wage Negotiation

(By Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—The policy committee of the United Mine Workers voted today to proceed with negotiations of a wage scale agreement with the operators in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois who are here for a joint conference, called with a view to breaking the soft coal strike.

President Lewis of the miners, predicted that when the scale is made 75 percent of all bituminous tonnage on strike will sign the scale and return to work within a week.

Returns Canvassed At the Courthouse

The county executive committee, J. E. Freeman, of Hartselle chairman, met at the courthouse today to canvass the returns. The boxes are all practically in with the exception of Albany box 2, and it is said that it will require the entire day to complete the tabulation. The work of the managers and clerks has been a most laborious and tedious task, and those who performed this task, are unanimous in the opinion that they are satisfied for a long time to come, and are not looking for another appointment of this character.

COTTON MARKET

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Wall street was a large buyer at the opening of the cotton market today and this imparted steadiness to the list in the face of poor cables. First prices showed a net gain of two points in March and unchanged to 12 points lower on other months. The heaviest sellers were Southern interests. After the start the market advanced about three points over last night's close on near options.

Operators and Miners Meeting
In Cleveland, Negotiating
Wage Scale

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Action of the Alabama coal operators in breaking away from the voluntary fair price agreement, resulted in a special meeting of the federal control of distribution committee being called today by Secretary Hoover to discuss the situation, which officials regarded with apprehension.

Secretary Hoover said, Governor Kilby may be asked for co-operation in obtaining for Alabama consumers fair prices for coal mined in the state.

NEW AGREEMENT NEAR

(By International News Service.)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 10.—Under the failure of a majority of the operators in Indiana and Western Pennsylvania and all of the operators in Illinois to join the joint conference here, miners and operators in the central competitive field are expected late this afternoon to begin the actual work of writing a new scale, which will permit the immediate resumption of coal mining in the union coal mines of the United States.

The meeting of the joint conference which comprises the scale committee of the United Mine Workers of America and operators representing approximately 35 percent of the tonnage in the central field—Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, will be preceded by a secret session of the policy committee of the mine workers. This body determines all matters of general policy and differences within the union itself will be threshed out here.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, wants to go ahead and sign a contract with the Illinois operators, it was reported, but authority for this will not be given, it was learned, until a scale for the entire district has been arranged. There will be no difficulty about this, however, as both sides have agreed upon wage terms which are expected to provide for a renewal of the scale, in effect when the strike was called, practically unchanged.

"We will write a scale that covers the entire field," a prominent miner told International News Service. Such operators as sign may go ahead and dig coal and the other mines will remain idle."

Hartselle Loses Three to Locals

The Albany-Decatur team took all three of the games played here this week with the Hartselle team. The game Wednesday, the last of the three here, went to the locals by a score of 5-3. Today the teams try conclusions at Hartselle, it being the first of a series of three to be played there. A large number of fans of the Twin Cities are making their arrangements to be on hand at the game today. The Hartselle team being on the home grounds for the last three of the series, and having strengthened weak positions, hope to give a better account of themselves.

Should we gather at the river where that big wood pile of logs is located, we would see them seized one by one, by clamps and put on the incline railroad previously referred to.

And up, up, the logs go until they reach the steam driven cut-off saw.

When the logs are sawed proper lengths and their bark removed they are placed in an immense lathe, trued up so as to run true, and as the log revolves the great knife of the lathe cuts off round after round of this wood and yard after yard of finished veneer is turned out and laid along on a smooth table. Then this veneer is cut into required lengths by just such a knife as The Albany-Decatur Daily uses to cut its print paper, only the veneer mill knife is much larger.

An Important Consideration.

The difference between this wood, and "veneer" wood is made in this way: First, the logs after being stripped of their bark and sawed the right length, are given a bath in hot penetrating steam "just like you would

BOX AND BASKET CO. SHIPS PRODUCTS TO MANY SECTIONS AND SPENDS MONEY HERE

Egg Cases, Veneers And Similar Boxes And Baskets Are Made Here

FARMERS ARE PROVIDED WITH LUMBER MARKET

W. F. Boswell Is the General Manager of the Local Plant

(By J. E. Blair)

The letter heads of the Decatur Box and Basket company, a manufacturing concern located one mile east from the Union depot and close up to the Tennessee river, modestly states that "Egg cases and Veneers" are manufactured; but as a matter of fact all kinds of light boxes, baskets and crates are made by this company. For instance yesterday W. F. Boswell, the general manager, was in receipt of a wire from the city of Oullocks, Tenn., for several thousand cantaloupe crates, in addition to the over fifty thousand such crates already shipped to that city. And yesterday there was visible a large order of banana crates all ready to be shipped to the far south.

The "Basket Factory" as the business under consideration is popularly known was said above to be located close "up" to the river, advisedly, as indeed it is "up some," being on one of the many high bluffs along the Decatur river line.

To begin with the material used in making veneer boxes and crates is mostly sweet gum logs and most of them come via "the river of the great bend," on barges sometimes, but generally in log rafts.

A large wood pile of great logs was noticed at the river's edge, and in connection with it an elevated railroad was seen leading up to the "cut off saw" of the factory.

But not all the logs used by this company come by way of the river. A very great many come from farms in Morgan and adjoining counties. Especially on Saturdays, many log laden wagons come to the factory. Most of the logs have been cross-cut-sawed into lengths as required by Mr. Boswell, and in this way the farmers do not have to haul any waste material.

Mr. Boswell claimed that his concern left money for local people "a coming and a going."

He said the sellers of the logs spent their money here, and also that his employees did likewise, and that while most of his products went out of this state and to every state east of the Mississippi, that the money for them was sent here and spent here.

150 H. P. is required to drive the machinery of the "basket factory," although counting the emergency boiler much more steam power could be developed. The full capacity of this business measured in egg cases (its standard product) is 5,000 crates a day, but only about half that number are now being made.

OF INTEREST TO PROHIBITIONISTS.

Early in November the voters of California will vote on whether or not they will uphold a certain prohibition enforcement law, known as the Wright law.

In accordance with the idea that every state of the Union should aid the federal government in upholding the federal constitution, and the amendments thereto, a law was passed by the Legislature of California designed to make sure of the enforcement of the 18th amendment. Every state except Connecticut and Rhode Island ratified the 18th amendment, but as two thirds of the forty-eight states did ratify it, the 18th amendment is as binding on those two states as upon any of the others. It would seem that those states should enact state laws in harmony with the national law on prohibition; and especially should those states have prohibition laws that voted prohibition within their borders. It seems strange that California wets were not willing to let the law for prohibition stand, especially as it seems from the following summary of it to be just and reasonable.

"It consists of six sections.

The first recognizes the requirements of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States and the concurrent duty of the states to aid in enforcement. It adopts the penal provisions of the Volstead act for California.

In section two, all acts or commissions prohibited by the eighteenth amendment of the Volstead act are prohibited in California.

Section three provides that if Congress amends or repeals the Volstead act or enacts any other law to enforce the eighteenth amendment, the Wright act shall apply.

Section four expressly reserves to cities or counties the enactment of local legislation and the collection of fines for violations of local ordinances for the enforcement of prohibition.

Section five defines "the Volstead act."

Section six is formal and declares that if any portion or section of the Wright act is found to be unconstitutional, the remainder continue in force and in effect."

It is stated, that regardless of the action of Californians in November, not a saloon can open in the Golden Gate state, and that if the Wright law is defeated in the referendum saloons nor dis- the 18th amendment is above any state law. An the 18th amendment is above any state law. Our advantage the wets can gain in the defeat of the Wright law, would be that state officials would be able to pass the responsibility for the enforcement of prohibition upon the federal government. The wets of California are willing to give up their state rights and responsibilities, in order to weaken prohibition enforcement in their state. They are at least consistent; since when have not anti-prohibitionists been willing to give up ground in order to aid their cause? And if the wets can defeat the Wright law, such action will be pointed to with pride as proof positive that people want to drift back to open saloons. The persistence of the liquor forces would be praiseworthy, if they had a worthy cause. The prohibitionists of the nation will watch with interest the outcome of the effort to destroy the Wright law in California.

LIFE

A brief span of doubts and fears; of beliefs and unbeliefs; a place of hills and valleys, mountains and meadows, over which the weary feet of all must needs go. Sometimes the way leads over the roughest mountain where jagged edges press hard, and tender feet are pricked by thorns which infest the way. Again, the way is along the most pleasant paths, with friends to walk by our side, and life rosy with promise beckons to come and enjoy. Now it is tempest. The clouds are gathering, and in the distance can be heard the rumbling of distant thunder, heralding the approach of storm clouds. Now the lightnings flash, and strike and rend and frail humankind is made aware of the absolute insufficiency of the frail barque of life to stem the tide of nature's elements. Now, the clouds are gone; the thunder ceased; the lightnings flash is of the past, and out of the clear blue either above, the sunlight of heaven beams down with all its great blessings. Across the light of day the scroll of night is being drawn. A golden halo adown the western hills tells of the descent of the king of day. The stars are out, and as we gaze into that faraway firmament, we are awed and impressed with unfathomable canopy above us, and if not until now, we realize that out of the maze of doubt and fear, there has been born the desire for and the belief of the supernatural, and in that belief, there is a composure which calms the most troubled breast. When the star of life is most dim,

REMARKABLE VOTE GIVEN TO BRANDON AND McDOWELL

The nomination of William W. Brandon for governor and Charles S. McDowell for lieutenant governor, by an overwhelming majority, confirms predictions previously made that they were sure of election.

The results of Tuesday's primary show conclusively that Brandon and McDowell are the choice of the people for the two highest offices in the state. There was never the slightest reason to doubt that they would be nominated. Col. Bibb Graves, candidate for governor against Judge Brandon, made the kind of race he was expected to make by persons in close touch with Alabama politics.

Although a victory for Brandon and McDowell was a foregone conclusion, supporters of these two candidates took nothing for granted and wisely kept up an intensive campaign to the last. Because of the general impression that Judge Brandon and Mr. McDowell could not be defeated, most of the excitement created in the closing days of the campaign centered in the race for the public service commission. Governor Kilby and former Governor Comer both took hand in the proceedings, the action of ex-Governor Comer in supporting Fitzhugh Lee causing a break with Dr. Brooks Lawrence, after the two men had fought the battles of prohibition together for many years.

It is still too early to draw conclusions from all phases of the primary, the length of the ballot making the returns slow in coming in. Accurate figures on some of the races will not be available until sometimes today, but when all the votes are tabulated and all the winners known, the people of Alabama, knowing that a nomination in the democratic primary of this state is equivalent to election, should forget politics and rally behind the Brandon administration. The campaigns, with a few exceptions, developed little bitterness among the various candidates and their friends, and that is all the more reason why there should be no bad after effects.

Nominated by each a huge popular vote, Judge Brandon sees the ambition of a lifetime gratified, and has before him a great opportunity to give Alabama a wise and constructive administration, with a free hand to carry out his policies.—Age-Herald.

Harmony is the magic word that listening ears are bent to hear. With harmony prevailing, there would be much of the unrest stopped, and a march to greater things started. The ears of all are turned to harmonious sounds. The unharmony is grating to all ears alike. Chasms are widening; the breach is becoming wider with the days; events upon events are transpiring to drive harmony farther and farther away. In all the homes there no doubt goes out the earnest wish from honest hearts that, some way may be found to cause the great mass of idle industrial workers to begin again, on a program acceptable to all interests concerned, and again take up the march to higher heights along the industrial highway, than hitherto enjoyed. That such may be the case, is voiced by all who have their country's interest at heart. Deep down in every man's bosom there is the undying hope that peace like Ciliad balm may so permeate the country over, that the things which now try the souls of men may be terminated, and this balm cover the world as the waters cover the sea.

Good showers have fallen in many selections of the county, coming at just the right time to save the old corn which was needing moisture badly, and other crops as well. The showers came just at nightfall, a time when their helpful influences would be very materially increased.

Cotton continues to do extremely well under the dry weather, but all corn was damaging. Gardens were greatly revived, and many are now planning and planting their Fall garden. When it is considered that in this section there can be raised practically two crops of all kinds of vegetables, the Fall garden is an investment which pays well.

One thing was demonstrated at the primary election held Tuesday, and that is, that the women can vote and vote intelligently at that. It was the first trail at exercising the suffrage for many of them, but in a large number of instances, which was the rule, they were able to make out their ticket without any help. The women in the politics of the future is to be a factor which must be taken stock of by those who are seeking the votes necessary to election.

The days of baseball are drawing to a close, and the real red blooded, pulsing game of foot ball will have its inning. For honest to goodness thrills, which hold the spectator in breathless silence, commend us to the game of foot ball. It takes a real sport to play the game, successfully. A fellow in whose veins there courses the red blood of health and plenty of pep. Soon the familiar whistle will be heard on the grid, and plenty of pent up enthusiasm will be forthcoming.

Those who did not get their favorite candidate elected, can find consolation in the fact as often stated, that no matter who is elected, you will have as good officer as the other fellow.

While this may not be a soothing draught, it will suffice for the present, and like good democrats all sleeves will be rolled up for a big majority in the general election.

Some fellows who were defeated cannot for the life of them figure out how it all happened. They cannot account for the fact that they did not receive the number of votes they were counting on, "for several hundred good men told me they were going to vote for me". This is a part of the game, and the price that those who enter politics must pay, at some point along the way. At any rate it is a wonderful experience, and furnishes food for thought of a great variety.

Now that the election is over, there are many other things which should engage our attention. Things of a helpful constructive nature. There is plenty to do, and all are needed in the work. Work in the game of life, a place where all can labor with efficiency, and where every stroke along the right line, counts and that mightily.

REMINISCENCES

By J. ADLAI WEST

SOME MEN I HAVE KNOWN

Stretching back through the lapse of years, there comes often and anon to mind some of the men I knew, and who by some act of their's riveted their memory on my mind in a most indelible manner. In this connection, there comes to me the name of Martin V. Parker, a man whom I knew when but a boy.

Mr. Parker lived on his farm south of Somerville. He had the reputation of being one of the best water melon raisers in all that section of country. In fact so great was the demand for his melons, that when parties wanted to buy melons, they would invariably inquire if they were raised by Mr. Parker. But that fact was not the most interesting to me at that time by any means. The fact that he raised good water melons was just an incident to my way of thinking then. But, the fact that he raised good water melons, and that he would let me help him unload them when he came to town, makes the complete sentence, the latter part of it having the most bearing on my case. He came into town from the south, down past the home where Judge David Day used to live, and from this elevation was the place where I first got a glimpse of the blazed faced horses he used to drive to his wagon. So familiar was I with them, that when they were far enough over the hill to be seen, I knew the watermelon wagon was coming, and away I would go to meet him. He always stopped and took me aboard. Whether he considered that I was some help to him, or out of a gentlemanly consideration just pan-dered to my childish ways, I have never until this day been able to successfully figure out. When the melons were all distributed to the different stores in town, there was always one reserved for me, and was handed down to me by this man, with a smile. During all these years I have remembered Martin V. Parker, and this one incident, which was repeated often times, furnished the chain which linked two friendships together in an inseparable bond. In his last years it was my pleasure to live near this man, and I never met him but that this early remembrance came to mind, and often it was talked over between us, and furnished pleasure for both.

To the Patrons of the Alabama Water Company,
Albany and Decatur, Alabama:

On the 2nd day of August, 1922, in the presence of a representative of the County Health Officer, our Superintendent took from two spigots, one at the City Hall in Albany, and one at the City Hall in Decatur, samples of our water, such as is furnished at all times to our consumers. These samples were packed in ice, and shipped by express to the Picard Laboratories at Birmingham, Alabama; the result of this analysis has just been received, showing that the water is devoid of disease breeding germs, particularly sterile, and well suited for a public water supply.

YOUNG MOTHER NOW STRONG

Her Mother's Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Led Her To Try It

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. ERNEST P. HANSEN, 562 Symonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish tonight to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.

POLA NEGRI AS DESERT DANCER IN REVELATION

Princess Today and Friday.
"One Arabian Night," starring that dynamic motion picture actress, Pola Negri, is to be the feature at the Princess Theater for an engagement of two days starting today.

Miss Negri plays the part of a dancer of the desert in this Associated First National attraction. Her master, a hunchback, is the owner of a caravan of entertainers who travel from town to town, their appearance being hailed with joy in every place. One day they reach Bagdad, heralded in song and story as the home of romance and intrigue. There the dancer meets the prince, who falls in love with her and woos her with ardor, despite the difference in their stations.

She manages to become an inmate of the harem of the sheik, father of the prince, to be near her lover, but tragedy puts an end to her dreams of bliss with her noble sweetheart. The production is notable for its harem scenes. Never has a more pretentious set than this been shown in motion pictures. The camera's panorama reveals an immense room, ornamented with stately pillars and other decorations, and priceless tapestries.

More than a hundred harem girls are shown, garbed in silks and satins with striking effect.

NEWS OF MOULTON AND LAWRENCE COUNTY

MOULTON, Ala., Aug. 10.—(Special).—A hot, sultry sunset closed one of the most eventful days in Lawrence county that an election has brought in many years; with one of the heaviest votes polled at a Democratic primary and after races made by many of the best men of the county, interest was at its highest throughout the day in Moulton; for months it has been known that the race between W. R. Jackson, present Circuit Clerk, and J. E. Kump, incumbent would be one of the closest ever run for probate judge. Mr. Jackson has been supported by a host of loyal friends and Judge Kump had his own personal hold on the voters as well as the long years of popularity bequeathed by his father, the late Judge J. C. Kump. Next in interest lay that of clerk with its six worthy aspirants, while the office for sheriff with its eight contestants held interest in many places in the county. It appears early this morning that the following results have been tabulated:

For state offices, W. W. Brandon, governor, overwhelmingly; nothing definite can be obtained earlier than this evening as county officials are getting all the attention.

Over five hundred votes were cast in Moulton alone—an unusually large number.

In the past a Democratic primary nomination has meant the election of man in the general election but this year the Republicans have built hopes and met Tuesday in a mass meeting at the county courthouse. Much enthusiasm was manifested and nominations made for almost all the county offices; for Probate Judge, Walter Robertson, of Mount Hope, for Circuit Clerk, Ben Hagood, of Hatton, Sheriff, Arthur Hardin, an ex-service man; no nomination was made for representative but for County Board of Education, term expiring in 1926, Hugh L. Taylor of Hatton and P. H. Leigh, of Mount Hope, and for term ending six years hence, J. W. Napps, of Caldo and W. H. Burden near Courtland. The mass meeting was well attended and a thorough reorganization of the party was had for the county, delegates were named for both the district and the state meetings and they were instructed to vote for W. E. Hochkiss of Courtland for Congress from the Eighth District.

A special call meeting of the Lawrence County Board of Education is to be held Thursday, August 10, for purpose of considering the placing of additional teachers at a number of schools and also the securing of funds for erection of school houses; a greater interest is being manifested in the schools of the county than has hitherto been known but her progress is handicapped by lack of funds and poor roads. The patrons of the Mount Zion school have this week subscribed about two thousand dollars for the erection of a school in their district which is eventually to become a high school to minister to the needs of the children in the north-east section of the county.

One of the most notable bequests ever made to the school of Lawrence county has just been made public; C. C. Smith, a prominent and public spirited citizen living near the Franklin county line north of Mount Hope a few miles has made public his gift of five acres of land and $3,000 towards the erection of a four room building for the benefit of the Prairie Grove District and adjacent portions of Concord and Flat Rock districts. In addition, at the death of himself and wife he promises the interest from the proceeds of his estate some amounting to almost eight hundred acres of good farm land for the maintenance of the school above that derived from public funds.

The hot dry weather of the past two weeks has begun to affect the crops of Lawrence county considerably but at the same time has stayed the ravages of the boll weevil; much of the corn was planted late throughout the county hence the need for rain is all the more seen.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Judy returned a few days ago from a visit of more than a week in South Alabama.

Preuit Simms and family are spending several weeks in Moulton at the home of his mother while she and her daughters are in Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace are the happy parents of a well developed son and are receiving congratulations from many friends.

L. B. Cropper, of Albany, has been in Moulton for the past several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Oxford Windham, accompanied by his uncle and aunt, Mr. Nad, Mrs. Johnson, all of Decatur, spent the week end in Moulton.

conducting a series of well attended meetings at the Baptist church in Moulton.

John White, formerly editor of the local paper, now of Knoxville, Tennessee, has been in Moulton for several days.

W. E. Moles had an operation for removal of his tonsils last week that has left in a very weakened condition due to loss of blood; he is recovering, but slowly.

Mr. Smith of Town Creek, was in Moulton early in the week.

Miss Maggie Young who has been studying art in Peabody during the summer returned to her home in Moulton Friday.

Miss Mabel Bass, of Trinity, has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clark Weatherwax, for the past several days.

Several citizens of Moulton attended the close of the adult school and the singing school at Mount Moriah Saturday.

Mr. W. L. Holdridge, pastor of the local Methodist church, is conducting a revival at Margerim, in Colbert county this week.

L. B. Jones, of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, begins a series of meetings at the church of Christ in Moulton, Sunday the 13th.

Bert Delashaw, of Nashville, is expected to assist in the singing at the meeting beginning Sunday at the church of Christ.

U. E. Reid, pastor of the local Baptist church, has been the leader in a regular Sunday afternoon service at the county jail and thus endeared himself to the prisoners there.

C. G. Burch and Ed Delashaw went to Nashville today on business.

MISS PARRIE BEARD

Miss Parrie Beard, aged 51 years, daughter of Mrs. E. A. Beard, died Monday afternoon at her residence near Southpoint after an illness of several months. Sargent, Mrs. Comer Kinzer, Mrs. Howard Kinzer, of Saw-just alley; Mrs. H. W. Ricketts of Southpoint; Mrs. R. H. Whiteside of Isom, Miss Willie Beard and Mrs. J. W. Flowers of Albany, Ala. THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where Ram Fights Are a Favorite Sport on a City's Streets
By TEMPLE MANNING

BOKHARA, the capital of Bokhara, one of the states of Turkistan, in central Asia, is by far the most interesting city on the Trans-Caucasian railway. This oriental city is so ancient and intensely eastern that the sound of a locomotive seems a wrong note in the general tone of the city.

The camels which fill the streets seem a much more natural mode of transportation in this far-away place. There are many long trains of camels passing through at all hours of the day and night, for Bokhara is the center of caravan trade carried on between India and the northwest of Asia.

Most of the inhabitants of Bokhara are Mohammedans.

A Bokhara Ram Fight.
The little lake around which the excitement of the town centres, is its reason for being—Bokhara is an oasis in the huge desert of Turkistan. The streets near the lake are always crowded. It is difficult to walk without stumbling over a group of gamblers or bumping into one of the innumerable huge swaying camels.

ONLY REAL HAPPINESS SEEN HERE

Florence Ziegfeld, noted theatrical producer, and his wife, Billie Burke who met him on his return from Europe. Their pose plainly tells there is nothing in the talk of trouble between them. So undoubtedly the Marilyn Miller-Jack Pickford trouble is all settled.

lather your face before shaving" to use Mr. Boswell's unique way of talking.

This "firstly" prepares the logs for the hard ordeal they have to undergo from the "pressure bar."

Talking about "third degree" treatment, those gum logs certainly get it. The "pressure bar," compresses the thin layers of wood and thereby it makes "veneer."

The bar squeezes the sap and steam water out of the wood, until great streams of water appear. Unless this pressure was administered, according to Mr. Boswell, his finished produce would split just as shavings do from a jack-plane. And he proved what he said, by releasing the "pressure bar" for a moment, and showing the undersigned, how "impressed veneering" was nothing but useless shavings—and not veneering at all.

OVER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS SERVICE

This present veneering concern, claims a life of only seven years, but the same business has been in operation over twenty-five years, barring three periods of idleness caused by as many burn-outs. Business done by this company is done for keeps, none of the products having ever been sent back on the management.

The engine room is fire-proof. The boilers are fired entirely by mill products, such as wood blocks, slabs, shavings of veneer that are defective and by saw dust. "We can and do burn saw dust," said Mr. Boswell, by using our power air blast. The concern generates its own light. Three main buildings are used. The power is sent to the "furthest" building, by means of a steel cable—rope, that runs at a speed of a little less than a mile a minute according to Mr. Boswell.

In addition to the regular box and veneer making factory, a complete saw mill stands adjacent, and is used for sawing logs for the use of furniture makers.

The engine that drives all the line shafts appeared to be a splendid piece of machinery. It was formerly used to drive the great band-saw at the historic Hitt Lumber Company. According to the same letter head spoken of in the out set A. D. Jervis, is President of the Decatur Box and Basket Company, F. A. Bloodworth, its Secretary-Treasurer and W. F. Boswell its general manager.

RESOLUTIONS

Of respect to the memory of Brother C. V. Dupont. Died July 29th, 1922.

Albany Lodge No. 491, A. F. & A. M. with deep sorrow make record of his passing. A true and faithful brother was he, living a life of usefulness to his fellowmen, we are glad for his long association with us.

To his loved ones who are sadly bereft by his passing, what can we say other than that "God the Supreme Master is a sure refuge and strength in every time of trouble and sorrow."

Sorrow hath its lessons. Death is spoken of as a sting, but it is victoriously overcome for all who trust in the blessed Master.

Your loved one has passed on to more delightful habitation, there to rest in the shade of the trees in the garden of God the Great and Glorious Creator, there to await a blessed reunion of loved ones some sweet day bye and bye.

Then think of the loved ones watching there, by the trees of eternal life so fair, till all come their joys to share, some sweet day bye and bye. Be it resolved that we tenderly commend his loved ones to the Eternal Allwise God of all grace, to give them comfort and hope.

Be it resolved that a copy be sent to the family of our departed brother under seal of the Lodge, and copy be published in the Albany-Decatur Daily, and copy kept for record in the lodge.

Respectfully submitted,
L. P. TROUP,
C. L. PECK
